

Dear Woodbury Parents:

It has been another busy week here at school. The week concluded on Thursday evening with the play "Princess Impossible" preceded by the PTO's delicious chicken dinner. Many thanks to all who made this great evening such a success! The kids were just terrific in the play. Once again Tess Martin, with her daughter, Natallie's help, produced a funny, upbeat, entertaining performance. Through much hard work, Tess has instilled a love of drama in our young children. Kudos to our young actors and to all the adults who made this drama experience such a positive one for them!

Next week will bring NECAP Science testing for our 4th graders. I will be administering the test to our fourth graders on Tuesday and Thursday of next week. Additionally, our 3-6 graders will be taking the Gates standardized reading test next week.

Stay tuned for information regarding field days to be held here on June 11th. PTO is sponsoring this fun half day of events for Woodbury kids, followed by an all school barbecue compliments of Chef Cross and Larry Eldred.

Let's hope for a nice weather weekend.

Sincerely,

Sharon Fortune, Principal
